

Advancing Facilities Practices: Using LEED® for Existing Buildings as a Catalyst for Change

This half-day seminar and panel discussion will focus on enhancing building value, streamlining operations and maintenance and improving occupant satisfaction through comprehensive facility management practices. The speakers will discuss opportunities to reduce a building's environmental impacts while improving the bottom line and will outline whole system approaches to effective facilities management practices. The LEED for Existing Buildings green building rating system will be discussed and demystified. Please join us for this exciting seminar.

Who should attend: building owners, facility managers, building operators, engineers, architects, interior designers, real estate brokers
